NEW YORK (AP)-One of life's little ordeals today is the fact that charity begins at home.

You used to be able to mail your philanthropy. Now it knocks at your front door and invites itself in.

Nobody argues about the duty of being his brother's keeper. The question is how many brothersadmitting we're all brothers - a fellow can figuratively keep while still actually supporting his wife, his children, his mother-in-law, and his favorite and inescapable uncle-good old Sam.

In the old days when you answered a knock on your front door you knew you were going to meet a friend, a brush salesman, a guy collecting your laundry or delivering groceries, or somebody workhis way through college selling magazine subscriptions.

Everybody you open a door to has a disease to fight or a cause to collect for

The man you admit to repair your television set suddenly asks, "You're not in favor of bursitis are you?"

"Of course not," you reply. "Well," he says, whipping out half a pound of pamphlets, "I'm your friendly neighborhood collector for the Amalgamated League against Bursitis. How much will you give to rid the world of this evil?"

"Put me down forabuck,"you answer weakly, fishing through your pockets for tomorrow's lunch money

Life has unwillingly made me a "buck against" man. Whoever crosses my moat with a message that he is against something finds in me a man who will give him a dollar to be against it too.

I have spent so many dollars being against things that I sometimes wonder what I am for. I found out the other day.

A knock summoned me to the door. Opening it, I automatically reached into my pocket.

There stood a young girl and a young boy. "What are you against?" I asked suspiciously. "Nothing, sir," the girl said.

"Are you lost?" "No sir."

"Well, what can I do for you?" "What is your favorite flavor?" asked the girl. "Mint."

"Shall I put you down for a box, sir?" "A box of what?"

"A box of Girl Scout cookies,

"I suppose they're a dollar." "No. sir. They are 45 cents." Well, I put out my buck and got back 55 cents, signed my name, saluted the kids and closed my door. Now I am no longer merely a "dollar againster," I'm for something. I'm a firm 45-cent supporter of the Girl Scouts. It is pleasant in life to stand for something, and not to be eternally opposing things.

Shooting At a King

Defense Secretary McNamara knows why anyone who shoots at a king must kill him. Secretary McNamara, a civilian surrounded by uniformed patriots and patriots in mufti who think like militarists, has shot at the Pentagon, the biggest thing in the federal government.

He has wounded well-heeled blocs in Con-

He has shot at the prestige of legislators whose aim in public life is to make things hot for people from the executive department who challenge their right to stand 10 feet tall in defense policy.

The checks and balances that put civilians in control of militarists is a political rock crusher that can pulverize a man as if he were made of sandstone.

It now is seeing what Secretary Mc-Namara is made of.

THERE IS NO question of his being able to harm the Pentagon and its spokesmen in Congress. He has no power to hurt them. The question is whether the people who want to crush Secretary McNamara can destroy him.

The actual issue seems unimportant, as frequently is true in king-shooting situa. tions. Should a contract have been given to one bidder or another, both competent? But what is being decided is whether a king without killing him.

Perhaps Salem's success in this venture can be used as a pattern for other muchneeded improvements: The Rt. 62 bypass, down by his critics. There is no martyrdom in store for Mr. McNamara. He is not the martyr type. He can take care of himself.

In the power struggle being waged in the Senate Investigating subcommittee and formerly waged in the House Armed Services committee, the ax has been sharpened and poised for a leading member of the Kennedy Cabinet.

Secretary McNamara is a Republican. Democratic diehards could hate him for this alone. But there are other reasons for wanting to destroy him.

HE IS NOT unduly impressed by military uniforms and rank.

He does not think military departments are untouchable or should be autonomous. He is not likely to be over-awed by the "military-industrial complex" that former President Eisenhower described as the foremost danger to the country.

As a matter of simple fact, Secretary McNamara stands between all civilians and the military establishment.

He has run afoul of military displeasure and is being given the treatment reserved for miscreants like him. He has shot at a

Michigan Harnesses a Nightmare

It might be a good idea for Ohio senaters making up their minds about House "improvements" in this state's Blue Law to run up to Michigan next month to see how that state's new law works when it goes

Michigan would like to think it produced a model statute. Some Ohioans want to think so, too. They referred to the new Michigan law during discussion of Blue Law reform in the House. The bill passed by the House included one of the principles of the Michigan law-a list of legitimate Sunday activi-

Yet, in Michigan the prospect of starting to operate under the state's new law next month is making no one leap for joy. Complications are piling up in advance.

A raincoat can be sold but not a top. coat, which will be interesting to clothing stores that stock coats which are both raincoats and topcoats.

A father can buy his son a baseball on Sunday but cannot buy his daughter a doll. The sale of a gun on Sunday is illegal, but it is legal to sell ammunition.

Selling a kitchen chair is forbidden but a lawn chair is permissible.

Drug stores will be required to remove or conceal from sight all merchandise that cannot be sold legally. That will be inter-

Only "acts of God, war or public enemy" will permit a customer to buy a hammer or a screwdriver on Sunday, and that could lead to some ingenious reasoning.

In other words, Michigan's effort to distinguish between things that are legal and things that are illegal one day a week is stirring doubts. The state is harnessing a nightmare for its law enforcement officials.

realistic. All that Spring means is the beginning of a season when day and night are equal Nothing is said about decent weather.

The only improvement that can be expected is due to the probability the earth will grow warmer as more sunlight is added, up to the solstice in the last part of June, when Summer begins officially.

But better weather is not a shoo-in. But even though it varies as wildly as the length of women's skirts, there is one good thing about it. In a lifetime, as far as an individual is concerned, the weather averages out in a characteristic pattern. This is important. It can be important to you now if you feel yourself slipping into March madness. Whatever happens day to day, week to week and month to month is an essential part of a long-range average. This helps to shake off the sense of persecution that fastens itself to many people in springtime.

Bad weather is part of the over-all picture? Understand?

No matter how bad it is, nothing about it is peculiar or unique.

There will be nice days in April, along with the days when sleet, rain and snow will make conditions miserable.

The same will be true of May and June. Fortunately, June has a good name, which helps people to forget what a sour month it can be when it doesn't live up to its good

A few years ago on the occasion of a class reunion, the lady classmate all of us boys wanted to take with us to a South Sea island asked to be escorted from the airport when she flew in from New York.

She had never married, she said. Buckity, buckity I had the idea of an outdoor luncheon in RFD before we set off totouchup old acquaintances at Alma Mater. It so happened everybody but me was away at the time. Ummm.

Ah June, ah old flame, ah Smoky the Bear, ah wilderness.

It was so cold that day the coffee turned cold in the cups and the food was gelid after two bites The lady from afar kept a stiff upper lip but her teeth were chattering so violently she looked like an astronaut during the acceleration stage.

The spell was shattered by an onslaught of goose flesh. When the lady turned blue, the game was over. We got into a warm car and departed for Alma Mater. That was

IT WILL BE ARGUED, of course, that public opinion in Latin America is opposed to any armed intervention by this country, and that the Communists will capitalize on such a step. The United States inevitably has to take the risk of offending the Kremlin, and can adopt the very contention that nations have put forward in the past-respect for international rights.

To protect American property by force, if necessary, is a right granted under international law. It involves a decision that has to be made sooner or later.

Under the Monroe Doctrine, the United States has maintained that no European power shall be permitted to establish a base or its "system" in this hemisphere. Historical precedent under international law therefore would justify a move to rid Cuba of Communist troops, technicians and

What the United States does or fails, to do in Cuba is directly related to the fuutre freedom of all the Latin-American peoples. The cry will be raised that intervention could bring on World War III. But a Communist takeover of Latin America, including Mexico, would mean a world war just the same. So it's a question of not what shall be done, but

All signs today point to a Communist conquest of the Latin countries of this hemisphere if the United States continues to wait for the weak Organization of American States to act, or mistakenly delays action until the Communists have built another wall around all of Latin America just as they have

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has just handed me the most cutting insult of all time. He brought home a safety deposit box with a lock bigger than my head.

When he got ready for bed this evening, he took everything out of his pockets, billfold, checkbook, identification cards, etc., put them in the box and made a great show of locking it. He then put the key in the pocket of his pajama and PINNED the pocket together with a big safety pin.

In all my life I have never taken a thing that didn't belong to me. I wouldn't dream of going into his pockets or snooping in his belongings. Our home has never been burglarized and nothing has ever been missing.

He is 53 years old and has a good job. He has always been moody and sort of a sourpuss but this behavior is the worst yet. What does it mean?-INSULTED.

Dear Insulted: The man sounds more sick than ornery. If he continues this locking up ritual insist that he see a doctor for a physical check up.

Phone the doctor for an appointment and inform him of your husband's odd behavior. He will take it from there.

History Today

Today is Wednesday, March 27, the 86th day of 1963. There are 279 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1794, President George Washington signed the bill to rebuild the U.S. Navy, which had virtually ceased to exist at the end of the Revolutionary War. To counter attacks by pirates against U. S. commercial shipping, Washington and Congress cooperated toward the purchase of construction of six firgates, but only three were actually built. One of these was the Constitution, or "Old Ironsides."

Baker Inks Contract With LA Rams Squad

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Terry Baker, Oregon State's brillant allaround athletic star, has agreed to play professional football rith the Los Angeles Rams.

The All-America quarterback, winner of the Heisman and Maxwell trophies last season as college player of the year, signed a threeyear contract with the National Football League club Tuesday night at the office of Elroy Hirsch, assistant to President Dan Reeves of the Rams.

Terms were not disclosed, but Baker is believed to have been guaranteed $25,000 a year plus a bonus for signing. He was the first draft choice of the Rams, was also picked by Oakland of the American League, and reportedly had an offer of $100,000 from Pronto of the Canadian Football League.

In other words, the court held that the Florida committee didn't have a real excuse in this case to say it was looking for Communists in the NAACP and without such an excuse it had no right to pry in privacy.

In this case, Goldberg explained, the real object of the investigation was not to find Communists but to dig into the NAACP to find out who its members were since the investigators already knew about the Communists they had

There have been previous decisions along this line. Monday's ruling was just one more step in the increasing effort the court is making to protect individual freedoms.

Goldberg said his opinion doesn't interfere with the right of a state legislature to inform itself through investigations to protect its vital interests. In this case, by the court's findings, Florida's vital interests were not at stake. Legislative investigators may be a little more careful about where they barge in on the privacy of individuals or organizations.

But there undoubtedly will be more cases of stepping over the line and the court in turn will have to decide them on their merits since each may be a little

IT'S MY OPINION

The Policeman in a near by town contributes to the delinquency of minors and harrasses some of our safest drivers and finest citizens.

Recently one of my customers sons was stopped there. He had no front license plate, the bumper was being repaired. The policeman swore at him and gave him just 10 minutes to get home and back again with his plate securely attached (a 14 mile drive).

No wonder two young members of official families in that town have been involved in fatal accidents. One which snuffed out the life of a small child, our customer, and the other a doctor who one time saved my life.

There's Also Dirt

Where There's Heat,

Modern central heating makes it appropriate to paraphrase 'where there's smoke, there's fire," to "where there's heat, there's dirt.'

It is important to good housekeeping, as well as to the life of curtains, to wash them often during the heating season. Deeply embedded soot and dust weaken fibers, and further fabric damage results from the strenuous measurers necessary to remove deep soil. So laundering often but lightly-in soap or detergent suds is an inexpensive way to save expensive furnishings.

The weekly slat-by-slat dusting of Venetian blinds needs to be supplemented by over-all washing at housecleaning time. Put each blind into the bathtub filled with warm suds; scrub slats, tapes, and cords with a brush; then rinse in clear water or by letting the shower spray down over the blind. Hang it over the shower rod until dripping stops, then replace it at the window and wipe it with a clean dry cloth to prevent water spots.

Kitchen Can't Be Beautiful Unless It's Also Efficient

unless it is efficient,' according to John T. Hannon, a noted interior designer and kitchen consultant to utility companies throughout the country. "And an efficient kitchen can be given an aura of beauty with very little effort," he says.

A well organized kitchen should have plenty of counter space and enough storage in each work area to make it easy to put things where they belong.

"Steel requires less care than any other material, and is ideal for the kitchen from both and efficiency and beauty standpoint," Hannon notes. For storage, steel cabinets-both the wallhanging and the standing modelsare immune to warping and cracking. And soil or spills can be wiped up in a matter of seconds. Standard steel kitchen cabinets come in a vareity of shapes and sizes. Then too, there are many new finishes-such as plastic or wood grain-to complement any kitchen decorating plan.

According to researchers, the sink, stove, refrigerator and mix center, in that order are the work areas used most frequently.

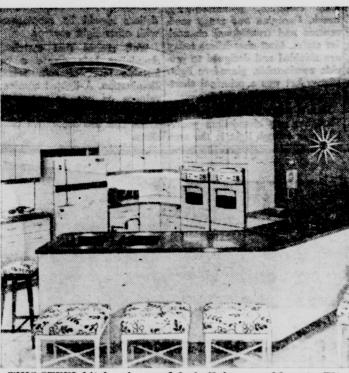

Now where should you put these different centers for economy of labor?

In order of efficiency Hannon considers the U-shaped kitchen the best timesaver. Here cabinets and the work surface four apples on sticks in butterthe sink forms the bottom of the areas. In selecting replacement pieces for your retired cookware, you'll want to remember that utensils made of aluminum cook with great efficiency because this versatile metal has very high heat conductivity, allowing food to cook quickly and evenly throughout.

Matched pieces in handsome aluminum are available from many manufacturers and in a great variety of designs, finishes and colors to complement any kitchen decorating scheme and suit every cooking need.

Whatever your selection, make it with an eye to the function it must perform in your own household as well as to the quality of its manufacture. Basic topof-range utensils should include at least these pieces as a minimum:

Set of three matching saucepans with covers, in sizes from one pint to two and one-half quarts, for cooking vegetables, puddings, cereals and sauces.

Two skillets, one small and one medium size, for frying and sauteing.
